

INCLOSURE D

12 Apr 70

SUBJECT: SOVIET BLOC SCIENCE and PARAPSYCHOLOGY: A SPECIAL REPORT

1. One of the most critical aspects in the development of any new Technology or field of science, is the caliber of men working in the field. There are a fairly large number of Soviet scientists (See appendix A and Inclosure B), investigating various aspects of ESP. Some of these men are the leaders of less controversial fields of science. Perhaps a comparative study should be made based on past experience (The amount of high caliber effort focused on a particular problem in the past as related to the speed with which the particular problem was solved) to indicate the approximate time period remaining to us before soviet science begins to bring the practical applications out of the field of Parapsychology.

In view of the recent Soviet emphasis on the new type of energy aspect of the field, it appears that this suggestion would be timely.

2. Soviet field research directed toward the isolation and investigation of PSI energy seems to have made some significant discoveries in 1969 in spite of some considerable opposition in soviet official and scientific circles (All ( ) numbers refer to the bibliography in Appendix B):

a. One of the most intriguing developments during the year was the seminar of studies and experiments concerning the telekineticist Kalugina. (Nelya Mikhalova). A film of her capabilities

c. Western observers report that the best parapsychological work done in the Soviet Bloc countries was being done in Bulgaria by Dr. George Lazanov. He has been in the field for over 30 years. He claims high level support and possesses the only nationalized psychic in the world, Vanga, who is famous all over Eastern Europe and even in USSR. Lazanov has many institutes all over Bulgaria filled with costly Italian instruments and equipment. He appears to have free access to Western Parapsychological Journals and has travelled through most of Western Europe and recently in India.(4).
